

To Whom It May Concern:

As the Chief Marketing Officer at Douglas Education Center, I am delighted to recommend a fellow colleague of mine, Andrew Zehner. Andrew is one of the hardest working and talented designers I've worked with. Andrew headed up our Graphic Design Program at DEC for many years. Between keeping the program on the cutting edge and mentoring students, Andrew was an integral part of our program.

He and I worked on many projects outside of our normal nine to five. We collaborated on just about everything from promotional designs, sign projects, website design, etc. Andrew also wrote and directed a feature film called "Speilburgh". The scope of this project alone is as much a testament to his talent and drive as you can get.

Because of his talent, hard work, and determination I am confident that Andrew will be an asset wherever his career may take him.

Sincerely,

Kevin Fear
